

"Historically, pandemics have forced humans to break with the past and imagine their world anew. This one is no different. It is a portal, a gateway between one world and the next." Arundhati Roy (2020)

The First Online Magdalena Festival - 24-27 June 2021

Distant Bodies, Shared Spaces

Bodies:On:Live - Magdalena:On:Line 2021 celebrates and (re)connects the work of women in contemporary theatre and performance, with more than 56 presenting artists from around the world, including those with decades of experience in performing online and those who are new to the field.

The program includes workshops, performances, artists' talks, works-in-progress, panel discussions, the ObserveStory (a 24/7 open space with a video gallery), daily yoga sessions, and special events.

Bodies:On:Live calls us together to explore the online space, to keep our encounters alive and inclusive; and to ask, what is the way forward? How will our live, embodied artistic practice be transformed and continue to engage and inspire us in the online space?

What happens to theatre when bodies are distant, when here is also there?

Elizabeth de Roza initiator of the festival, says: "The intention for the festival was sparked by a curiosity when the world was in lockdown and festivals and events had to be cancelled. I wondered, how can our work and the Magdalena network remain relevant, when until now the Magdalena festivals have happened in proximal space? What might an online Magdalena festival look like?"

Bodies:On:Live is affiliated with The Magdalena Project, a dynamic, intergenerational and cross-cultural network for women in contemporary theatre and performance. In 35+ years of activities, there have been over 100 Magdalena festivals and gatherings in more than 20 countries.

The festival program is structured in blocks of several events. Booking for one event, gives you access to all events in the same block. In order to be accessible across economic realities, the ticket prices are 'pay as you can'. Donations are welcome.
